Local Men With Canadian Forces

Since the start of the war about 30 men from Crossfield and district have joined the army or other branches of the service and every week that passes sees two or three more men enlisting.

A list of all those who have enlisted from here has been compiled but, although the list is as complete as possible, it is likely that two or three or more names have been left out. Those enlisting from here generally apply at Calgary and friends or relatives of these men are asked to check over the list given below and see that the name of their son, husband or friend is included, with their rank and unit.

It is important that this record of enlistments be kept as complete and up-to-date as possible. If any of our readers know of anyone now serving in the army, navy or airforce and whose name is not included below, they are asked to communicate with F. Mossop or The Chronicle.

The list will be brought up-to-date and published every month so please inform this office of any omissions or errors.

Allied Fliers Strike Back

Italian bombers attacked Malta, Britain's naval base in the Mediterranean, shown above, but when British fliers retaliated big Italian bases in East Africa were destroyed. "We caught the enemy napping," a British communique said. The Royal Air Force was particularly successful in raids on desert airdromes in Italian Libya. This aerial view shows the harbor of Valetta, principal city of Malta. At right is part of Valetta and its suburb, Floriana. In left foreground is Fort Ricasoli, and in centre background is the float ing drydock, important cog in the defence machine.

He was instructor at Trenton and Camp Borden, and then was named examining officer for pilots trained by commercial flying clubs in the Maritime, being stationed at Halifax. Thursday July 11th 1940

The business man of today must adjust himself and his business along the lines as we find them at the present time. Old worn-out ideas and systems must be discarded and new methods injected. The war gives you an illustration of the modern way. Things change as time advances—and in order to meet the demands of the 1940 public, we must change over to the new if we are going to retain sufficient business to carry on.

The city stores have taken considerable business from the smaller centres, but why should we surrender this business that is right fully ours. It is worth going after.

Perhaps an invitation to your store would assist in bringing back those customers you used to have. They are still buying groceries, clothing, boots, furniture and motor cars. Why should this business leave our community?

The Axis powers are finding the Axis is beginning to heat up. They don't seem to have the right lubricant, their salve does not seem to meet with the requirements needed to soothe. The injections of Democracy they are receiving these days have the dictators agreeing that the British Bulldog has an excellent set of teeth.

Alberta stands first in Canada in provincial organization under the nation-wide War Savings Plan. John Burns, chairman of the War Savings Committee for Alberta, stated on his return from a business trip east, in the course of which he conferred with the National War Savings Committee in Ottawa.

"However, we must not be satisfied," cautioned Mr. Burns, "Britain is now the last European bulwark of freedom. Neither those who have accepted responsibility in the work, nor the people of Alberta, can afford to slack up after first enthusiasm. Canada needs our dollars now, and we will need them later. The big thing right now, and until the war is won is for us all to become War Savers to the limit and keep at it."

The Chronicle is anxious to publish all the news it can. We feel that our readers can help us by sending in items like Personal Reports of Social Affairs, and other activities. Heed Cries of Wounded

American women in thousands of communities all over United States devoted their time and work to produce the contents of these cases. Boxes contain Red Cross surgical dressings, and are shown being labeled in a Hoboken, N.J., warehouse for shipment to the battle front in France.

Wheat Pool Makes Payment

A payment of $453,425 was made to the Provincial government by the Alberta Wheat Pool on June 29th to apply against the 1920 overpayment. This payment was not due until Sept. 1st, but the Alberta government agreed to accept the sum in advance.

This is the ninth annual payment made by the Alberta Wheat Pool to apply against the indebtedness incurred by the government guarantee of the 1920 overpayment to Pool members.

R. D. Purdy, general manager of the pool in announcing the payment said: "Each year we have met our obligations faithfully and on a number of occasions paid in advance of due date."

30 Million Tons of Salt

That is the world consumption of salt according to a statistician who states that this amount of coarse salt would cover a square mile of land to a depth of 30 feet and yet could be obtained by the evaporation from one-fifth of a cubic mile of sea water. It is an astounding fact that in Canada alone at Windsor, Ontario, there is enough salt to last the world, should all other sources fail, for close to 100,000 years.

Household Hints

Dressings and mayonnaises are in constant demand this time of year, with the home-made varieties topping the list in popularity. Here are some simple recipes that will produce exceptional results.

Golden Salad Dressing

Combine and cook in double boiler until thickened:
2 eggs slightly beaten
1-4 cup sugar
1-4 cup lemon juice
1-2 cup orange juice
Chill. If desired, fold in 1-2 cup cream, whipped.

Magic Lemon Mayonnaise

1 egg yolk
1-4 cup lemon juice
2 3/4 cup sweetened condensed milk
1-4 cup salad oil or melted butter
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
Beat or shake until mixture thickens. Add 1-4 cup more of lemon juice for a tartar flavor. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

Cottage Cheese Dressing

3 tablespoons lemon juice
6 tablespoons cottage cheese
6 tablespoons cream
1-2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar or honey
Dash of paprika
1 tablespoon chopped chives, if desired
Beat until smooth. Yield 1 cup.

Royal Sandwich Spread

2 tablespoons butter
1-2 can thick tomato soup
1-4 lb mild Canadian cheese, grated

Heat until all are blended, stirring. Remove from heat and add 1 egg, beating until well blended. Return to the stove and cook until thick and smooth. Remove and add 1 cup flaked canned salmon, removing the skin but using the oil, and 3 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives. This makes about 1 1/2 cups of the spread. As the tomato gives colour, any variety of canned salmon may be used in making the spread, not necessarily red salmon.

WORK OF CANADA'S GRAIN HANDLING SYSTEM OUTLINED

Attractive Booklet Reviews Functions Of Country Elevator

"Prairie Sentinels" is the title of an attractive booklet which has just been issued. This booklet deals with the handling and movement of Canada's grain crop and should be in the library of every farmer's home.

In its opening pages "Prairie Sentinels" reviews the early history of wheat growing in Canada. The functions of the Board of Grain Commissioners are outlined and details are given concerning the methods which farmers may use in handling their grain at country elevators. The functions of the terminal elevator and the exporter in the movement of the wheat crop are reviewed, and information on the cost of hauling and transporting grain is given. Salient facts taken from reports of various Royal Commissions which have investigated the grain trade since 1899 are quoted as well as commendation which has been given Canada's grain handling system by farm leaders.

An interesting section of "Prairie Sentinels" deals with the United Kingdom market, and the growing and use of wheat in other lands. The booklet is attractive.

A Nazi Warbird Perishes

"Here's what happens when German airmen attempt to out-fight Allied gunners in the clouds. Shortly before this picture was taken 'Somewhere in France,' Nazi and Allied planes were in combat, but the Nazi in charge of the manoeuvre above failed to out-manoeuvre his enemies and the result is obvious. Crashing in flames, the big German fighter came down in a wood and fire did the rest."

The Health League
Of Canada

The elements necessary to the growth, repair and health of the human body are proteins, minerals, carbohydrates and vitamins.

Milk provides some variety or other of all these requirements, being exceptionally rich in calcium, and this is of the greatest importance to infants and children because it helps to form sound, strong bones and teeth.

Milk not only is a rich source of vitamin A, but supplies the best protein, which is especially helpful to growth. It also supplies two more excellent and essential foods, cheese and butter.

Eggs are also an indispensable item of diet, they furnish protein, fat and vitamins and also the iron which the body must have.

"The mother who can supply her family with plenty of milk, cheese, butter and eggs need worry very little about the health of her brood", Dr. McHenry states.

"She has already provided most of the essentials of nutritious diet, and her chief concern will be variety of preparation."

BATH-TUB OCEAN

Even though you may not have the opportunity to go surf bathing in the sea this summer you can still enjoy the invigorating results of a salt bath right in your own bathroom. Salt has always been recommended to tone up and strengthen the skin tissues because it draws excess moisture from the body and stimulates the human system. To take a salt bath at home which will approximate a dip in the sea, it is suggested that a third of a pound of salt any grade, be used for every gallon of water, and since the average person uses from 15 to 20 gallons of water for a hot bath, five pounds of salt will give you all the benefits of a hot sea-water bath.

"Be a good host to a good neighbor" is the advice of finance minister Ralston for encouraging the tourist business. In his budget speech the minister warned against "unfounded rumours that have been circulated". By stamping these out and encouraging our Americas friends to visit us Col. Ralston declared that "nearly every Canadian can help to increase our receipts of foreign exchange". No passports will be required from United States citizens visiting Canada.

Red Cross Society

On their vacation trips this summer, Alberta women can use spare time knitting shoulder shawls for convalescing Canadian soldiers in hospital. About 30 inches square, plain knitting, in bright colors and of any weight soft wool, they are easy to make.

Red Cross hospital visitors in England discovered the need for these shawls and notified Canadian Red Cross authorities. Knitting them is a pleasant odd-time job and fits in well as a vacation pastime. Send your finished work to your nearest Red Cross Branch for shipment to England.

Members of the visitor committee in England are in contract with all hospitals to look after the comfort of every Canadian soldier admitted. If the patient is unable to do so himself the visitors write to his relatives in Canada, keeping them informed of his progress.

Warns of U.S.-Japanese War

Rear Admiral Joseph K. Tausig, above at right, Commandant of the 5th Naval District at Norfolk, Va., started the U.S. Senate Naval Committee at Washington yesterday with his observations that the trend of developments in the East might eventually force the United States into war against Japan. Admiral Tausig is shown here with Major George Fielding Eliot, military writer, whose articles appear in The Star from time to time. Admiral Tausig told the committee he thought Japan was fomenting a desperate Far Eastern situation as a prelude to a program of conquest by which it hopes to impose its philosophy on much of the world.

They are also entitled to any excursion fares in effect for civilians.

Under the voluntary arrangements with the Canadian War Savings Committee for this drive, the Motion Picture Industry including all theatres will not derive one cent of revenue through the sale of the stamps. The total cost of special shows in theatres from Coast to Coast to encourage the sale of stamps is being borne by the industry. The theatres are giving up one whole evening, Monday, July 15,

"The patriotic gesture of the motion picture interests to promote the sale of war savings stamps and certificates has been strengthened by their decision to place their show on the evening of Monday, July 15 instead of the Sunday previously selected," declared Rev. George G. Webber, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance. "Citizens who opposed the selection of the Sunday for the theatre shows can now heartily commend the plan," he said.

Offers Plan of Sacrifice To Aid War Finance

A naturalized Canadian of Italian birth has submitted to the Minister of Finance a novel plan to further "free-will" offerings to Canada's war cause.

He is employed in the Canadian National Railway shops at Winnipeg and is voluntarily working for the pay of an army private. All he earns above this will go to the Department of Finance as a voluntary contribution to war effort.

"For some time past," he writes to the Minister of Finance, "a plan has been formulating in my mind and realizing the grave situation the Allied forces are facing, I feel compelled to hesitate no longer in presenting to you my plan for your kind consideration.

"I will state at the outset that I am a naturalized Canadian of Italian birth. I feel, together with several of my fellow workers here, that at the present time I am of more value to the country in remaining at work in the shops. However, because I am single and have no one dependent on me, I feel that it would be taking advantage of the grave situation at hand to continue to work at home in perfect safety, drawing a monthly salary, while others are sacrificing so much. I feel it is my duty to do as much as I possibly can to support the Government's war effort. Therefore my plan is to work on the basis of a private in the Army, turning the balance of my wages every month
